Report

Overview of the Program:

The P.G. Department of Commerce organized a one-day workshop aimed at preparing M.Com students for the Karnataka State Eligibility Test (KSET) and National Eligibility Test (NET). These competitive exams are essential for students aspiring to pursue careers in teaching or research in commerce. The workshop was designed to provide comprehensive guidance on exam content, preparation strategies, and resources. The session was led by Dr.Partha.T with experience in NET/KSET coaching and focused on both general paper (teaching and research aptitude) and subject-specific content.

The workshop began at 10:00 AM with an inauguration ceremony where the Head of the Department highlighted the significance of NET and KSET for students' academic and career progression. Following the inauguration, sessions were held covering various aspects of the exams, including syllabus overview, question paper analysis, and effective preparation techniques.

Objectives of the Program:

Increase Awareness: To provide students with an understanding of the structure, pattern, and requirements of KSET and NET exams.

Familiarize with Syllabus and Exam Pattern: To offer a detailed review of the syllabus, including core concepts in commerce, and the general teaching and research aptitude paper.

Equip Students with Effective Preparation Strategies: To demonstrate effective time management, study techniques, and problem-solving strategies specific to these exams.

Resource Guidance: To introduce students to study materials, online resources, and books those are valuable for KSET and NET exam preparation.

Motivation and Counseling: To encourage and motivate students by sharing successful strategies and experiences of previous candidates who have cleared these exams.

Improved Preparation Techniques: Students learned effective preparation techniques, including daily study schedules, note-making strategies, and self-assessment methods.

Access to Resources: Participants received a curated list of recommended books, online courses, and websites that are crucial for their exam preparation.

Boost in Confidence and Motivation: Through interactive sessions, Q&A, and success stories, students were encouraged and motivated to approach the exams confidently.

Increased Awareness of Career Paths: Students gained insight into the academic and professional opportunities that open up upon clearing the KSET and NET exams.

The one-day workshop was a valuable initiative by the P.G. Department of Commerce to support M.Com students in their pursuit of academic and professional growth. The positive feedback from participants indicated that the workshop provided them with the skills and resources needed to prepare effectively for KSET and NET exams. The department aims to organize similar programs in the future to continue empowering students in their academic journeys.
