Program Objectives

- To introduce the fundamentals of NGS
- The applications and wide career opportunities in Genomics
- Hands-on training in the basics of NGS

Proceedings of the workshop

1. Genome Awareness Program

The speaker, Mr. Avinash Dhar, Bionivid, introduced the concept of Next Generation Sequencing and its scope in the coming future. It is a massively parallel sequencing technology with high throughput, scalability and speed. The technology helps to analyse sequence of nucleotides in complex genomes in short period of times as compared to classical method of DNA sequencing. He deliberated on the role of NGS in helping decipher the coronavirus genome in a short period of time. He also stressed the scope of developing this skill and it being a sought-after technique in R&D sectors and industries globally. Also, he highlighted the advantages of NGS and the challenges or hurdles to overcome with this technique.

2. Workshop on Introduction to Next Generation Sequencing

The entire workshop was conducted hands- on using cloud computing services from Amazon Web Services Cloud EC2. The participants were made to download Putty Software. Using FASTA and the gene sequencing of cancer genes availed from NCBI, the participants were able to analyse the nucleotide sequence.

Program Outcome

1. The participants had a hand-on experience on using Illumina software to analyse gene sequences.
2. By having a basic exposure of the skill, participants who were predominantly students and researchers, were inspired to learn the higher end of the skill
3. The students were willing to learn and upgrade their skills in this field by attending workshops or courses offered by the Institution and Bionivid, B'lore related to this technique.

Conclusion

The One- day Program on Genome Awareness Program (GAP) and workshop on Introduction to Next Generation Sequencing addressed the concepts of principle of the technique, the scope and challenges of the technique. In addition, the participants had a hands-on experience in using the Illumina software for gene data analysis.

Dear Mr. Avinash
I hope this email finds you well.

First of all i want to express my gratitude for being the resource person on 17th October's workshop on Introduction to NGS. Your commitment and efforts in teaching the basics to the participants, who mainly comprised graduate students is much appreciated. The students were very happy about learning something new and finding out new prospects in their career opportunities. I have noticed a sense of change in their view for the subject and a sense of determination sparked in them. with this, it is my inbound duty to acknowledge the knowledge shared by you and the encouragement received during the workshop. We look forward to conducting more such programs in the future together.

I wish you all the best for your future endeavors and the upcoming projects of the company such that you and your team reach the heights of being a leading genomics company worldwide.

With thanks and best regards
